about the ingredient house

Our company was established in 2006 with a single, powerful vision that drives us to this day: To be the most trusted provider of high quality ingredients to the global food, beverage and pharmaceutical industries, using a combination of low-cost sourcing strategies and value-added services.

To bring this vision to reality we hand-pick high caliber professionals with successful careers in their respective areas of expertise. Then we establish strong partnerships with cost-efficient manufacturers who can meet our strict selection criteria and add our know-how and resourcefulness to the mix to deliver upon what we promise to our customers every single day.

After years of strong growth, and after earning the right to supply ingredients to the world's most respected food and beverage brands, we feel good about what we've achieved so far, and even better about what the future holds. What makes us different is not a secret ingredient, rather a tried and true recipe for success for any business: A thoughtful and lean operating model, a "can do" attitude and a highly experienced, trustworthy team of professionals.

At The Ingredient House we feel great about the company we've built and we feel honored to have been selected as a strategic supplier of ingredients to five of the top twenty food and beverage manufacturers in the world.

We are eager to work with you and your company to help accelerate your success and build a strong, lasting relationship based on mutual respect and trust.

a thoughtful and lean operating model

We combine low-cost sourcing strategies with high-end support services and relentless focus on quality assurance. The resulting value equation is unmatched in the industry.

a "can do" attitude

We do what we say. We are resourceful, agile and we aggressively look for answers to the toughest problems. Our people have a "can do" attitude that is embedded deep in our DNA.

we've been there

We have developed a "dream team" of industry veterans to lead the business, who have built their careers and many businesses in this industry with expertise in sales, marketing, sourcing, finance, regulatory affairs and quality assurance.
